1. The CHAIRMAN recalled that the redefinition proposal contained in COCOM 3413.05/9 had already been accepted by France, Germany, Italy and the United States. He invited Delegations who had not yet given the final views of their authorities to do so.
2. The BELGIAN, CANADIAN, DANISH and UNITED KINGDOM Delegates stated that their authorities could accept the redefinition proposal contained in COCOM 3413.05/9.
3. The GERMAN Delegate, recalling that the United Kingdom had first raised the question of the redefinition of Item 1305 in July, said that if it were decided that the new definition should come into force at the same time as any changes which might be agreed during the current list review in order to facilitate administrative work, his authorities would nevertheless not wish this to constitute a precedent.
4. The COMMITTEE agreed that the redefinition contained in COCOM 3413.05/9 should come into force not later than January 1st 1960, together with other changes which might be agreed during the list review, in order to facilitate Member Countries' administrative work. It was agreed that this should not constitute a precedent for the date of entry into force of items reviewed during the normal course of the year.
